COX INDORSES THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

MAKES STRONG ARGUMENT IN SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE SATURDAY.

Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was formerly notified Saturday of his nomination for presidency by the Democrats of the nation.

In his acceptance of the nomination, Governor Cox dwelt at length upon the many public issues before the nation, recognizing the League of Nations as the chief issue.

Due to its length, the address cannot be given in its entirety, but it is deemed well to give prominence to that part of it which treats upon the League of Nations.

In part the Governor said: "We are in a time which calls for straight thinking, straight talking and straight acting. This is no time for wobbling. Never in all our history has more been done for government. Never was sacrifice more sublime. The most precious things of heart and home were given us in a spirit which guarantees the perpetuity of our institutions—if the faith is kept with those who served and suffered. The altar of our republic is drenched in blood and tears, and he who turns away from the tragedies and obligations of the war, not consecrated to a sense of honor and of duty which resists every base suggestion of personal or political expediency, is unworthy of the esteem of his countrymen."

The men and women who by expressed policy at the San Francisco convention chartered our phrase in the spirit of the hour, pursued it with clarity and courage. It is not necessary to read and reread the Democratic platform to know its meaning. It is a document clear in its analysis of conditions and plain in the pledge of service made to the public. It carries honesty of word and intent. Proud of the leadership and achievement of the party in war, democracy faces unafraid the problems of peace. Indeed, its pronouncement has but to be read along with the platform framed by Republican leaders in order that both spirit and purpose as they dominate the opposing organizations may be contrasted. On the one hand we see pride expressed in the nation's glory and a promise of service to the people. On the other, the cynicism of expediency and the treatment of subjects vital to the present and the future, in terms that have completely confused the public mind. It was clear that the senatorial oligarchy had been given its own way in the selection of the presidential candidate, but it was surprising that it was able to fasten into the party platform the creed of hate and bitterness and the availing policy that posess it.

"In the midst of war the present senatorial cabal, led by Senator Lodge, Penrose and Senator Clegg, Superficial evidence of loyalty to the president was deliberate in order that the great rank and file of their party, faithful and patriotic to the very core, might not be offended. But underneath this misleading exterior, conspirators planned and plotted, with bigoted zeal. With victory to our arms they delayed and obstructed the works of peace. If deemed useful to the work in hand, no artifice for interfering with our constitutional peace-making authority was rejected. Before the country knew, yet, before these men themselves knew the details of the composite plan, formed at the peace table they declared their opposition to it. Before the treaty was submitted to the senate in the manner the constitution provides, they violated every custom and every consideration of decency by presenting a copy of the document, procured unblushingly from enemy hands, and passed it into the printed record of senatorial proceedings. From that hour dated the enterprise of dividing the whole subject into a technical discussion in order that the public might be confused. At the outset there was the careful insistence that there was no desire to interfere with the principle evolved and formalized at Versailles. Later, it was the form and not the substance that professedly inspired attack. But pretense was futile when proposals later came forth that clearly emulated the basic principle of the whole peace plan. It is not necessary to recall the details of the controversy in the senate. Senator Lodge finally crystallized his ideas into what were known as the Lodge reservations, and when congress adjourned these reservations held the support of the so-called regular Republican leaders.

"From that time the processes have been interesting. Political expediency in its true sense dwarfed every consideration either of the public interest or of the maintenance of the honor of a great political party. The exclusive question was how to avoid a rupture in the Republican organization. The country received with interest, to say the least, the announcement from Chicago, where the national convention was assembled, that a platform of world peace, had been drawn leaving out the Lodge reservations, and yet remaining agreeable to all interests, meaning thereby, the Lodge reservations, the mild reservationists and the group of Republican senators who had openly opposed the league of nations in any form.

"Senator Harding makes this new pledge of policy in behalf of his party: 'I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign.' 'This means but one thing—a separate peace with Germany.' 'This would be the most disastrous event in civilization since the Russians made their separate peace with Germany, and infinitely more unworthy on our part than it was on that of the Russians. They were threatened with starvation and revolution had swept their country. Our soldiers fought side by side with the allies. So complete was the coalition of strength and purpose that Gen. Foch was given absolute authority, and every soldier in the allied cause, no matter what flag he followed, recognized him as his chief. We fought the war together, and now before the thing is through it is proposed to enter into a separate peace with Germany. In plain words, we pledged our honor and our associates for the moment of terms upon offending powers, and now it is suggested that this be withdrawn. Suppose Germany, recognizing the first break in the allies, proposes something we cannot accept. Does Senator Harding intend to send our army to Germany to prevent their terms? Certainly the allied army could not be expected to render aid. If on the other hand, Germany should accept the chance we offered of breaking the bond it would be for the express purpose of insuring a German-American alliance, recognizing that the allies—in fact, no nation in good standing—would have anything to do with either of us.' 'This plan would not only be a piece of bungling diplomacy, but plain, unadulterated dishonesty, as well.' 'No less an authority than Senator Lodge said, before the heat of recent controversy, that to make peace except in company with the allies would 'brand us everlasting with dishonor and bring ruin to us.' 'And then after peace is made with Germany, Senator Harding would, he says, 'hopelessly approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship.' 'In short, America, refusing to enter the league of nations (now already established by twenty-nine nations) and bearing and deserving the contempt of the world, would submit an entirely new project. This act would either be regarded as arrant madness or attempted international bossism.' 'Let it be remembered that those now envenoming against an interest in affairs outside of America, criticized President Wilson in unmeasured terms for not resisting the invasion of Belgium in 1914, after they tested the league of nations a military alliance, which except for their opposition would envelop our country, when as a matter of truth, the subject of a league of nations has claimed the best thought of America for years, and the League to Enforce Peace was provided soon by so distinguished a Republican as ex-President Taft, who, before audiences in every section advocated the principle and the plan of the present league. They charge experimental, when we have as historical precedent the Monroe Doctrine, which is the very essence of Article X of the controversy in the senate. Senator Lodge finally crystallized his ideas into what were known as the Lodge reservations, and when congress adjourned these reservations held the support of the so-called regular Republican leaders.

NEW MAIL SERVICE TO BE GREAT HELP

MAY ALSO OFFER PASSENGER SERVICE BETWEEN STATESBORO AND DOVER.

While the proposed mail route between Dover and Statesboro, which was announced in last week's issue of the Times is by no means a certainty, Postmaster Hardy is by no means discouraged in his efforts to secure this service which if instituted will give to the patrons of his office all Atlanta, Macon and western mail some four hours in advance of the present service made possible under railroad accommodations, now in operation from these connections.

Bids for this proposed service have been called for by the department which requires a bond of $100 to be submitted with each proposal filed with the postmaster at Washington not later than August 24.

Interest is quite apparent both among the patrons to be benefited by the proposition and the applicants who have tendered their services for the fulfillment of the contract.

It is stated in this connection by a number of applicants that should they be the successful bidder a passenger service will also be operated in conjunction which will make connections for the traveling public to and from Atlanta and Savannah by making two trips daily from Statesboro delivering and receiving passengers to and from the early morning train from Atlanta to Savannah and night train from Savannah to Atlanta.

It is stated in this connection by a number of applicants that should they be the successful bidder a passenger service will also be operated in conjunction which will make connections for the traveling public to and from Atlanta and Savannah by making two trips daily from Statesboro delivering and receiving passengers to and from the early morning train from Atlanta to Savannah and night train from Savannah to Atlanta.

Bids for this proposed service have been called for by the department which requires a bond of $100 to be submitted with each proposal filed with the postmaster at Washington not later than August 24.

Interest is quite apparent both among the patrons to be benefited by the proposition and the applicants who have tendered their services for the fulfillment of the contract.

DISTRICT COMMITTEE FIXES PRIMARY RULES

PROVIDE FOR NOMINATION OF CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE FROM FIRST DISTRICT.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the First Congressional district, held in Statesboro yesterday, rules for the nomination of a congressman were fixed.

These rules prescribe that entries for the primary shall close on Sunday, August 16; that each candidate shall pay a fee of $10 in addition to the assessments levied by the various counties of the district; and that the election shall be held at the same time and place and under the same general rules as those provided for the state primary.

Going further, the rules provide that on September 22, following the primary on September 8th, the executive committee shall meet and declare the nominee and the candidate who shall receive a majority of the county unit vote of the district. In the event no candidate shall receive a majority of the county unit vote, then that candidate who receives the highest county unit vote shall be declared the nominee, and in the event there shall be a tie in the number of the county unit vote, that candidate who shall have received the highest popular vote in the district shall be declared the nominee. In this connection it was also provided that the candidate who receives the highest popular vote in each county shall be entitled to the county unit vote of the county.

The rules further prescribe that the successful candidate shall be entitled to name from among his friends and supporters in each county a member of the district executive committee for the ensuing year.

Present at the meeting were J. O. Strickland, Bryan, A. M. Deul, Bulloch; E. W. Griffin, Effingham; L. V. Strickland, Tattnall; A. B. Lovett, Screven, proxy by W. G. Neville; W. H. Kittler, McIntosh, proxy by W. B. Moore; John Kennedy, Chatham; proxy by J. F. Brannen; Josephus Camp, proxy by J. W. Franklin.

Congressman Overstreet was also present. Invitations had been given by the chairman to both the other candidates, Messrs. W. F. Slater and W. W. Sheppard, to be present, but neither was in attendance.

"HOW WILL YOU VOTE?"

This is the title of a very interesting but deceitful article which appeared in another publication of August 7th over the signature of Hon. J. A. Brannen.

As a man and citizen there is none for whom the writer has a higher regard than Mr. Brannen, and it is unfortunate that a man of his noble life and character should be so far led off from the fundamental principles of our government as to follow the infamous and treacherous policy of Thomas E. Watson and Thomas W. Hardwick. His reference to the American Legion as a "secret political organization" is one of the greatest untruths of the whole article. The American Legion stands not for the same thing which it stood for when its members were offering their lives in order that Mr. Brannen, Tom Watson, Tom Hardwick and others of their kind might have their much-talked-of "free speech and free press," while they were vilifying the government which has protected their lives and their liberties, and while they were trying to cast ignominy and shame upon the lives of the brave boys of Georgia and other states who made the great sacrifice for their freedom.

The American Legion was organized, and its sole purpose is, to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate one hundred per cent Americanism; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness. These are the objects and the sole objects of the American Legion, and the man who opposes the accomplishment of these objects is opposed to the fundamental principles of our government and is in effect and principle a traitor to his country.

Let me quote a passage to you from this "How Will You Vote?" article, this for example: "Men like Watson and Hardwick who are standing for the rights of the masses are denounced as traitors by this military-financial combination who are seeking to force the United States into the League of Nations and bring on compulsory military training." Now, citizens of Georgia, when you are determining "how to vote," if you will let yourself go back to the spring and summer of 1917, when, as Mr. Brannen says, our standing army was but 82,000 men and when Germany held the fate of the civilized world in her hand, with the United States of America the only power on earth that could wrest it from her and make it possible that these men might have liberty, and look at how Mr. Brannen, Mr. Watson and Mr. Hardwick vigorously fought every suggested plan for the prosecution of the war. If you will but call to memory their efforts and their propaganda at that time, it will certainly utterance and writings which I the writer of the official court record of the trial of Jacob Abrams and others on the charge of conspiring to violate the Espionage Act. The first of the two articles attached to the indictment is conspicuously headed, "The Hypocrisy of the United States and Her Allies." After denouncing President Wilson as a hypocrite and a coward because troops were sent into Russia, it proceeds to assail our government in general, saying, "His silence about the intervention in Russia reveals the hypocrisy of the plutocratic gang in Washington and vicinity. He is too much of a coward to come out openly and say, 'We capitalist nations cannot afford to have a proletarian government in Russia.' The Russian revolutionaries, 'Workers of the world, Awake! Rise! Put down your enemy and mine.' Yes, friends, there is only one enemy of the workers of the world, and that is CAPITALISM. Workers, Russian emigrants, who who had the least belief in the honesty of our government must spit in the face of the false, hypocritical, military propaganda which has fooled you so relentlessly, calling forth your sympathy, your help to the prosecution of the war. Do not let the government scare you with their wild punishment in prisons, hanging and shooting. We must not and will not betray the splendid fighters of Russia. Workers, up to the fight."

After denouncing the President as a traitor, it says: "I suspect this is where Tom Watson picked up the first attack and the hypocrisy of the United States and her allies, this article concludes: 'Socialists, Anarchists, Industrial Workers of the World, Labor Party men and other revolutionary organizations, unite for action and let us save the Workers Republic of Russia. Know you lovers of freedom that in order to save the Russian revolution, we must keep the armies of the allied countries busy at home.'"

What difference is there in the ultimate purpose which Watson and Hardwick were working for and the purpose for which the red-handed Russian Anarchists were working (Thomas W. Hardwick's client's) ultimate purpose was to keep the American armies at home. Watson and Hardwick's ultimate purpose was to keep America from raising an army, and the effects of both were to keep the American people from interfering with the Russian Soviet Government, a kind of government in which all principles of civilized order are destroyed.

In determining how you shall vote, this great danger of the Soviet Government of Russia should be the first to claim your attention, for today the entire world is alarmed at the actions of Russia and Germany. It is feared in all diplomatic circles that there will be an alliance formed between the Russian Soviet and the German Soviet. And today, when it is the confessed purpose of all the Russian revolutionaries to overthrow the American government and make the Great American Soviet Government, and destroy the fundamental principles of our government root and branch, Tom Watson, Tom Hardwick and their followers are telling the American people that we should destroy all vestige of military protection, and condemn even a civilian organization whose sole object is to maintain the principles of our government. Who else fights the American Legion, save Watson, Hardwick and their gang? None save the organized revolutionists of America. You recall the first attack that was made upon the American Legion, when those brave American boys were marching down the streets of one of the principal cities of our country and were fired upon and shot down like dogs by this infamous gang of revolutionists to whom Watson, Hardwick and their gang would have you surrender our country.

Will you vote to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism, or will you vote to follow a policy which will place the American people at the mercy of the ruthless policies of the Russian Soviet government, which principles are upheld and advocated by Watson and Hardwick? Will you vote with the man who has offered his life as a sacrifice to his country and its principles, or will you vote with a gang that has aligned themselves with our enemies?

A SWEET-SMELLING RECORD.

Grover Edmondson, the headmaster for Tom Watson who was denounced from the platform by Curtis Barrett, a returned soldier, because of his condemnation of the government when he attempted to follow Tom Watson in a public address at Barnesville last Wednesday, is not a candidate for any office. It may seem, therefore, a waste of time to consider him. And so it would be except for the circumstances which made possible his rise. He was in company with Tom Watson, who is seeking election to the United States Senate at the hands of loyal Georgians; he was speaking in support of, and by consent of, Mr. Watson. Having accepted him as his spokesman, Mr. Watson and his followers are to that extent responsible for his record. Having taken him as a part of their outfit, he lends his color to their rainbow—the smell of him arises from their stink-pot. As "birds of a feather," their association together is subject to inspection, and the record of the man is entitled to be considered in connection with his conduct in this behalf.

And that record is a sweet-smelling thing, if one cares to look into it. To most of our readers, the man is a stranger; some of them may admire him because of lack of information concerning him; others may not even care to inquire what he is or where he hails from. Yet there may be some who ask honestly, "Who is this man Edmondson?" The Macon Telegraph has asked the question and answers it in full:

"Who is this man Edmondson, Watson's 'Good man Friday'?" That question has been asked of the Telegraph a hundred times since Wednesday, when Edmondson, in the brazen audacity of imitating Watson after hearing his master's voice, denounced the American Legion and its service men at Barnesville, was interrupted by Curtis Barrett, young attorney of Barnesville, and called a liar in polite language when he started his pop-protest attack on the Legion.

"Edmondson is being groomed by Watson, who is in the hands of the age and hatred, for the editorship of his paper, the Columbia Sentinel, the disseminator of vitriol and the organ through which Watson sings his weekly hymn of hate. Watson has given Edmondson a good schooling although Edmondson was not entirely without qualifications and experience necessary to become editor of Watson's paper. His education along the line consisted of the following, authenticated by court records:

"Indicted at Quitman for carrying concealed weapons and firing a pistol. "Law practice became dull for him and he was unable or unwilling to pay his office rent. His landlord served out a distress warrant and the sheriff of Brooks county sold Edmondson's law books. There was some question as to whether the books had ever been paid for.

"Was grieved from prosecution by a bonding company when members of his family paid some of the claims which creditors for whom he had collected money held against him.

"Representing a set of creditors, he took a note from a debtor for $500, dated one day after date, stating to the debtor, according to his sworn affidavit, that the creditors would carry the note until fall. Shortly after, he filed suit in his own name, not in the name of the creditors for $500.

"When a defense was filed, he dismissed the suit. The debtor testified that he traveled all over south and central Georgia speaking against the selective service draft, promising that for $25 he would keep young men out of the army. The $25 was supposed to finance him in fighting the draft. After collecting a considerable sum, he went to Florida, where he is said to have 'relieved' in the army.

"He was in the quartermaster corps. So far, Mr. Edmondson has made no boast of his war record.

"Was floor-leader at the Watson-Smith convention in Atlanta for Watson.

"Since that time he has been traveling over the state with Watson denouncing the American Legion in the interest of Watson's campaign, with the full approval of Watson."

To which record, the Dublin Telegraph adds: "The Telegraph could have added that with his breath ringing with moonshine, the red-headed apostle of Watson came to Dublin three months ago to speak in behalf of his chieftain. It is said he was too drunk to even make a connected address, and for more than an hour he rambled from sentence to sentence, while the staunch supporters of the Sage of McDonnell bowed their heads in shame that such a man should be sent to Laurens county to present the claims of Watson to intelligent and respectable people.

"The Telegraph has told only a small part of this man's record. Running with desire for political power and influence which would be dangerous in the heart of Russia, this today of Watson, whose face clearly pictures a bleached head and polished mind, has attacked the American Legion with the most damnable lies ever originating in the brain of an American.

"Wallowing in a mazy bed of mire, Edmondson would rob American heroes of all honor and would hold the officers who commanded our men in the United States army to their country. Without the least sign of conscience, he has made the greatest blunder in Georgia politics. It is hard to believe Georgia should ever reach a period in its history when a man could go about the state attempting to keep the graves of our heroes of Georgia boys in France and those who were fortunate enough to return once to their native land only to find Watson and Edmondson casting mud at them. A shame, a disgrace upon the state, we harbor such men within our borders!"

WHO WILL YOU FOLLOW?

An article recently published, dealing with the present political situation, which is completely and satisfactorily handled by Mr. Wesley Cone, a returned soldier, in another part of this paper, seems to be entitled to a little further analysis.

The purport of the article is that those who are opposing Watson, Watson and Edmondson, are city people, influenced by the city press, and are therefore not entitled to the confidence of the "farmers" to whom the appeal is directed. Signing the article in a city man, surrounded, so it is said, by the city press, and the city people, is to any member of Post No. 1, American Legion, Curtis Barrett or any paid servant of Clark Howell.

I would like to compare my record in the war with some of those who are making as much noise about patriotism during the war. I did not wait for the draft law to get me, neither did I seek officers' training camp in order to save myself from carrying a rifle. I did real fighting, unrelenting. I left two brothers sleeping under the poppies of Flanders, and all I could wish was one leg, one arm, a backache and a clean character—a determination to ever fight to keep our country free from foreign contamination, and I will wage my one arm and my one leg that Tom Watson and Tom Howick will get more ex-soldier votes than all their opponents together.

Clark Howell and a few little-legged Atlanta officers and jackleg lawyers are trying to make it appear that all the ex-soldiers are against Edmondson and Watson. Watch the line up. Count the soldier votes at the polls. We are nearly all for Watson and Howick. The people of Georgia are not inclined to believe that it takes a little officers' uniform and a pair of leather leggings to make a man patriotic.

Name your speakers, please and date, and I will be on hand with the backing and support of the real soldiers of Georgia who did real fighting. Quit your heckling of candidates and breaking up of meetings. A real soldier wouldn't do that; a real man wouldn't do it. Let the candidates alone. Meet a soldier. Very respectfully,

A. B. SMITH,

JUDGE SHEPARD MAKES FINE SPEECH

Judge Shepard, who spoke here in the interest of his candidacy for congress, made a fine impression on the audience, which was large and enthusiastic, at the noon hour of city court on the 26th.

The judge is no trimmer and his defense of prohibition and his enlightened remarks on the league of nations made a profound impression on his hearers as did his reference to the red menace of foreign immigration.

Judge Shepard has a message that every red-headed American should hear, and those who do not hear him are standing in their own light.—Liberty County Herald.

BULLOCH TIMES AND STATESBORO NEWS

THE DEATH OF MRS. W. P. DONALDSON

In the death of Mrs. W. P. Donaldson a great loss has fallen upon the home which she had made so happy through so many years.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Linder and was born December 15, 1851. She married W. P. Donaldson December 21, 1871, and became a member of Blitch Baptist church in July, 1888. She remained with that church till the time of dissolution in July, 1897, after which she united with Clito Baptist church, where she remained a devoted member up to the time of her death, which occurred December 28, 1919.

She was the mother of ten children, one of whom died in infancy. The others are all living to mourn a loss which to them can never be repaired but to her eternal gain.

To the close of her beautiful life she maintained a sunny disposition, making her home one of the happiest and surrounding it with a moral and religious atmosphere which was inspiring to all who were brought under its sacred influence and the influence of which will remain a rich heritage to her devoted husband and children.

Just before she died she said while enduring great pain, "The Savior told us He was going to prepare a place for us and now why can't I go on to that beautiful home without so much suffering."

But words of praise are inadequate and the marble monument cannot be as lasting as the influence of her faithful and loyal life on her children and children's children through coming generations.

We extend to the bereaved husband and family our sincerest sympathy and pray that they may all meet her in the beautiful home beyond.

A CHALLENGE TO ATLANTA POST NO. 1 OF LEGION

Editor The Georgian and American: Feeling that the dignity of all ex-soldiers has been degraded and insulted by the political stand that Clark Howell Post No. 1 of the American Legion has taken, I hereby challenge this bunch of hecklers to meet me in a series of debates. Remember, this challenge is to any member of Post No. 1, American Legion, Curtis Barrett or any paid servant of Clark Howell.

I would like to compare my record in the war with some of those who are making as much noise about patriotism during the war. I did not wait for the draft law to get me, neither did I seek officers' training camp in order to save myself from carrying a rifle. I did real fighting, unrelenting. I left two brothers sleeping under the poppies of Flanders, and all I could wish was one leg, one arm, a backache and a clean character—a determination to ever fight to keep our country free from foreign contamination, and I will wage my one arm and my one leg that Tom Watson and Tom Howick will get more ex-soldier votes than all their opponents together.

Clark Howell and a few little-legged Atlanta officers and jackleg lawyers are trying to make it appear that all the ex-soldiers are against Edmondson and Watson. Watch the line up. Count the soldier votes at the polls. We are nearly all for Watson and Howick. ## THE LUCK OF THE IRISH

(An Allan Dwan Production.)
From the story by Harold McGrath.

William Grogan was a journeyman plumber who got in touch with the outside world only through the little basement window of the plumbing shop. From there he could only see the feet of those who passed by the door of the shop who were the kind of people he despised.

His companions were the little children who poked their heads through the window and laughed and talked to their idol who was the kind of people he despised.

He was like "The Hindu Yogi" who could set his body grinding corn, and take his soul and go visiting with it. For three years from his cellar window he had seen the same two shapely feet, sensibly shod in leather, and there were lots of women with pretty feet; he did not have many illusions left, this young philosopher of the soldering iron, and he wanted to keep this one, so he dreamed of her as he hoped she would be.

Born in New York and thrown upon the streets an orphan of nine, this young philosopher of the soldering iron, and he wanted to keep this one, so he dreamed of her as he hoped she would be.

At a restaurant, famed with its remoteness from the town's glitter, and patronized by other men's wives and other wives' husbands, Ruth went to dine with Colburn.

As she stepped to greet a friend and while assisting her to remove her wrap, he winked at her in a way that was suggestive of a friend and while assisting her to remove her wrap, he winked at her in a way that was suggestive of a friend.

Ruth caught the reflection of the link in the mirror, wheeled around and returned her engagement ring, then hurried out. As she left the

To the Voters of Bulloch County:
At the solicitation of many of my friends and after careful consideration of same, I make my announcement for representative of Bulloch county, subject to the Democratic primary. I earnestly solicit your support and assure you that same will be highly appreciated.
Respectfully,
J. R. GAY.

Having considered the matter carefully, I have decided to offer myself as a candidate for representative from Bulloch county, subject to the Democratic primary next September. I shall appreciate the support of my fellow citizens, and pledge my best efforts to serve them faithfully and honorably with my suffrage.
Respectfully,
JOHN C. FARRISH.

To the Voters of Bulloch County:
I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election, as a member of the Georgia legislature from Bulloch county. I have served to the best of my ability during the past, and shall appreciate an opportunity to continue that service if it has been acceptable to the people of the county.
Respectfully,
J. W. WILLIAMS.

FOR STATE SENATOR
To the Voters of the Forty-Ninth Senatorial District:
I hereby announce my candidacy for the state senate from this district, subject to the next Democratic primary. Your vote and support will be appreciated.

FOR SOLICITOR GENERAL OF OGLETHORPE CIRCUIT.
To the Voters of Bulloch County:
Having been solicitor of the city court of Millen for the past eight years, and believing that my experience is such that I am qualified to perform the duties of the solicitor general of the Oglethorpe circuit, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for this office, subject to the next Democratic primary, and respectfully ask for your support. If elected, I promise to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of the office without respect of persons. Being lined up with no man or set of men, I am making my appeal to each and every individual voter in your county and the entire circuit. Yours respectfully,
WILLIE WOODRUM.

To the Voters of the Oglethorpe Judicial Circuit:
I hereby announce my candidacy for nomination as Solicitor-General of the Oglethorpe Circuit in the next Democratic primary. I will greatly appreciate all support given me.
Respectfully,
A. S. ANDERSON.

FOR CONGRESS.
To the Voters of the First Congressional District:
I shall be a candidate in the Democratic primary election to succeed myself as representative from the First District of Georgia in the Sixty-Sixth Congress of the United States. From the declaration of war up to the present time, Congress has been in almost continuous session, and I have remained at my post of duty attending to the public business. As a general rule, members of long service command the most influence in shaping legislation, and the experience I have gained in Congress and my familiarity with departmental work enables me to serve the people to their advantage. I shall stand and rely upon my record since my election to membership in the House. With profound gratitude for the honors already conferred upon me by the people of my district, I shall again feel grateful for a renewed manifestation of their confidence by re-election for another term. At an opportune time I shall render to the people a full account of my stewardship.
Respectfully,
J. W. OVERTREFF.

FOR CONGRESS.
To the Voters of the First Congressional District of Georgia:
In compliance with statement heretofore made, I avail myself of this opportunity of formally announcing my candidacy for Congress from this district in the next primary. After carefully and seriously considering the matter, I believe that I may be able to serve the people in some way of vital importance to them, and I earnestly solicit your support. I will announce my platform later.
Respectfully,
WALTER W. SHEPPARD.

Salient Six
A MODERN ENGINE HELPS MAKE ITS GREATER VALUE—ITS GREATER SERVICE.

Were the Stephens just an ordinary motor car, yet powered with the Stephens engine, it would still be a car of greater value and greater service. The Stephens engine is no respecter of the grades of gasoline you supply it.—
It burns completely the lowest grades of gasoline without lessened performance. The Stephens engine wastes no fuel, therefore it wastes no power.
Rated at 25.3 Horse Power (S. A. E.), it actually develops 57 and is the most powerful engine for its size in passenger automobiles.
This is due to the Stephens Vaporizing Wall and Superheating Chamber, which gives the Stephens engine the aforementioned advantages over other types of engines. Add the greater value of the Stephens hand-built bodies, the recognized high standard of quality and workmanship throughout, to the greater service possible from the Stephens engine and you have the Stephens —The Salient Six.
Arrange to see and ride in the Stephens today.

A GREATER VALUE. A GREATER SERVICE

Veneral Disease and Marriage
We find in the annual report of Dr. Bowdoin, Director, Veneral Disease Control in Georgia, that about 50 per cent of the venereal diseases reported were found in the 20 to 30 year age period. We also find, based on the Government census report of 1910 for Georgia, that it is a conservative estimate to say that fully 80 per cent of the marriages are contracted by parties within this same age period, 20 to 30 years.
Therefore, it seems that at this time of all times of one's life every possible step should be taken, both educational and legislative, to offer protection to the innocent who would otherwise become victims of these diseases, and deserve to be, dreading disease.
The school offers the surest way of combating successfully the venereal disease situation. Education will form a permanent barrier against these enemies of mankind. The boy and the girl, the young man and the young woman should be given full knowledge of the character of, and the destructive power of these diseases, striking incessantly at the very foundation stone of the human race. A course in the high school and college required for a degree from that institution would be an incentive to the graduates for enlistment in the campaign for the eradication of venereal diseases. It would be instrumental in attaining public opinion and community interest in the demand that its citizens accept the responsibility of their homes and the health of their progeny.
The State owes it to its citizens to see that their children are protected from venereal disease. It is to guarantee their protection from enemies of other kinds. The citizens have a right to demand that the State pass legislation that would insure their health, for without such legislation a large number of the innocent will continue to become victims of these horrible diseases, through the carelessness and ignorance of those by whom they are transmitted. The bill awaiting action is a long step in the right direction.
Every young woman who before marriage does not require her lover to present a health certificate that is free of venereal disease is taking a big risk in having her dreams of a happy married life considerably upset. In many instances it is found in reality to be in the right direction, and it is found that the surgeon and nurse, and one in which the offspring is not without blemish, because of venereal infection in the husband at the time of marriage.
The State Board of Health has its laboratories equipped to make examinations for these examinations. These venereal diseases free of any cost to those desiring such examinations. Their only requirement is that the specimens for these examinations come through your physician. The State Board of Health stands ever ready to be of service to the people of the State in the promotion of their health.

HARDLY KNEW HER AT FIRST SIGHT
MRS. WHITE'S NEIGHBORS ARE ALL TALKING ABOUT HER WONDERFUL RECOVERY.
"When my wife began taking Tanlac she weighed only ninety-five pounds; now she weighs one hundred and forty-three and her wonderful recovery is the talk of our neighborhood," said Ben White, of 111 Cascent avenue, Peoria, Ill.
Mrs. White has been suffering from stomach trouble and nervousness for eighteen years," he continued, "for a long time had been unable to leave the place. We spent all the money I could get for treatments and medicines but she never got any better. She was a complete nervous and physical wreck and I have seen her nearly die with cramps in her stomach and after eating she could hardly breathe for the gas. Headaches drove her nearly distracted and I have stayed home weeks at a time fearing she would never pull through, for she was getting worse all the time.
"After hearing so much talk about Tanlac I bought some for my wife and in just a few days she could eat and sleep better. She has now taken about twelve bottles and is the very picture of health. Why, some of her friends hardly know her at first sight now. She is well and happy as a person can be.
Tanlac is sold in Statesboro by W. H. Ellis Drug Company.

CITIES OF GEORGIA GRADED
All of the cities of the United States of over ten thousand population have recently been graded by our government on the action they have taken toward the control of venereal diseases. The grades have not been announced until now, but the grades are again in about six months, at which time we sincerely trust that our state will show great improvement. There is plenty of room for it, and if the citizens can be brought to realize the importance and necessity for more stringent enforcement of laws, of which we have ample, a great step will have been taken towards the eradication of these diseases.
Don't believe all you hear—especially about yourself.

MANY THINGS HAVE HELD TO MAKE TRAVEL PLEASANT, BUT NOTHING MORE THAN THIS—
American Bankers Association
No one thing has contributed more to the pleasure of traveling—in Europe, in the Orient, in the United States—than the Traveler's Cheques of the American Bankers Association, popularly known as "A.B.A." Cheques.
Imagine yourself in a strange place, far from home, where the banker does not know you and the hotel-keeper is suspicious, because you have recently passed a bogus cheque on him and where your credit has no standing with the people you meet.
What good would your cheque do under such circumstances?
None whatsoever unless somebody "took a chance" out of pity for you and cashed the cheque for you.
We don't want our customers to be placed in such embarrassing positions, so we have arranged to help them to have as pleasant a trip as money can provide by selling to them
